Associate

Jennifer's main responsibility is to serve as a liaison between clients and Congress. She maintains strong relationships between clients and policymakers by attending Congressional hearings, writing memos, scheduling meetings, and planning events. Jennifer reaches out to policymakers in order to promote client interests and objectives.

Before joining NVG, Jennifer gained experience in the political sphere by working as a field organizer for Pete Buttigieg's presidential campaign in New Hampshire. During the 2020 general election, she served as a member of the Democratic Party of Wisconsin's record-breaking finance team and, afterwards, briefly worked with Governor Tony Evers' re-election campaign.

Jennifer is a native of Wisconsin and Central Washington, and she is a recent graduate of Tufts University. While a student, she studied both Chemistry and English and competed with the school's cross country and track and field teams.
